

This is greatly upsetting to me because I work night shift, long hours, and need to keep my phone on for emergencies. It really ticks me off to be woke up several times a day, each day by the same telemarketers that won't take no for an answer. Under no circumstances do I want this to pass. It's an invasion of my privacy and life.